Directions: Copy this page and separate the scenarios. Prepare enough scenarios to give one to each small group.

1. Michael is eating lunch with three friends when one young man pulls out a pack of cards. "Gentlemen," he says, "who's up for a little five-card stud?"

2. Carrie arrives at a party with her friends Stacie and Lucia. Scanning the room, they see a group of students gathered in a circle playing dice. "Come on," Stacie urges. "Let's join the action!"

3. Jorge is walking home from school with his friends Cole and Michael. Passing a convenience store, Cole says, "I dare you to buy a lottery ticket!"

4. Amanda is at a slumber party. "I'm bored," one girl sighs. "Let's get on the Internet and gamble!"

5. Connor is on a class field trip to Atlantic City. "Want to prove your cool?" an older student asks. "Go into one of the casinos and play black jack without getting caught!"
